DESSERT

Quality...Freshness...Great Ambience
Indulge Yourself in new Yum Cha era!

“Yum Cha” Culture

“Yum Cha” is a part of the Chinese culture, and is also a dining experience. “Yum Cha” means “Tea Tasting”. Having Chinese tea complimented with Dim Sims will extract the taste of the Dim Sims to their fullness. There are many types of teas in China. East Ocean Restaurant has carefully selected 5 different types of teas for our patrons to compliment the meal:

香片

Jasmine Tea (or Xiang Pian), is a type of Green Tea. Green Tea has stronger anti-aging, anti-cancer and anti-bacterial properties, and is recommended for frequent computer users to help avoid effects of radiation. Green Tea can also help reduce blood fat and counter effects of Nicotine, which is highly recommended for cigarette smokers.

普洱

Pu Er, is a type of Black Tea. According to Chinese medical practitioners, it has degreasing ability and enables bowel movement, and is said to aid in digestion. Po Er Tea is also a good suppressant of cough and flam.

鐵觀音

Tie Guan Yin, is another type of Green Tea. Tie Guan Yin Tea is quite potent in breaking down protein and fat, and aiding weight loss. In Japan, it is the top choice for ladies wishing to lose weight.

壽眉

Shou Mei, is a type of White Tea. Shou Mei Tea can regulate the density of the substance in the nerve system, and can aid people with high blood pressure to lower their blood pressure. It also has ability to relax and calm a person. For younger generation, it helps improve memory and learning ability.

菊花

Chrysanthemum Tea or (Ju Hua) does not actually contain any tea leaves. Instead it is a flower-based tisane made from chrysanthemum flowers of the species Chrysanthemum morifolium or Chrysanthemum indicum. Ju Hua Tea is particularly good for eye sight. It helps soothing the strained eye muscles and helps avoid unclear vision.
